OVERVIEW

Successful leadership development programme begins with the alignment of leadership development with the organization's strategy and an understanding of the type of leadership styles needed to execute that strategy.

There are two ways to assess leader's fitment in an organization –

1. Get to know them better:
Psychological and behavioral assessments have been statistically linked to the current and future success in leadership roles
2. Understand the culture better:
Ask your board, employees, vendors and consultants for insight into what makes an effective leader in the company.

Public service is about public trust. If there is anything unique about public service, it derives from this proposition. For a public administrator, upholding the public trust means faithfully executing one's duties, as determined through the political process, in support of the public interest or the collective good. This does not imply a different standard of morality but rather a more scrupulous adherence to accepted standards.

It has been widely accepted that we need both virtuous public servants who aspire to the highest norms of conduct and also control mechanisms to ensure accountability and the satisfaction of some minimally accepted standard. There is a need to discuss about values and principles that are particularly important for ethical decision making in public service. The program aims to bring awareness and understanding about Ethics and its importance in decision making.

In the above context, with a view to nurture a visionary, innovative, influential and effective leader with traits like creativity, flexibility, adaptability, reliability, honesty, integrity, trustworthiness, commitment, courage, diligence and professionalism that will ensure a well balanced leader for an organization, Indian Institute of Corporate Affairs (IICA) would like to organize capacity building program on Leadership, Team Building & Communication Skills.

Program learning outcomes:

1. Focus on increasing awareness about self
2. Deploying OPQ32 Inventory to shed light on individual personality types
3. Awareness of how to building consensus, collaboration, and lead people towards a combined vision of the organization
