OVERVIEW

GeM – Government e-Market place is the national portal to make public procurement transparent & simple. Conceived by Government of India, GeM is an end-to-end e-commerce platform for procurement of goods & services by Government organizations. GeM offers all modes of procurement (direct purchase, LI, bid & reverse auction) in a paperless and cashless manner. The GeM portal is currently being used by almost all departments/ organizations of Central and State Governments as mandated mandatory by the Government of India.

"GeM has harnessed digital capabilities and has emerged as a one-stop-shop for procurement of all possible goods & services that may be required by Government buyers at various levels of administration".

Navigating Procurement via Government e Marketplace (GeM) is crucial for any organization in 2024

The portal currently has 1.45 lakh primary buyers and 2.13 lakh secondary buyers. In terms of categories, nearly 12,000 product categories and 320 service categories enable the procurement of different goods and services.

Micro and small enterprises are getting major business from public procurement portal GeM and they are expected to sell goods and services worth over USD 20 billion by the end of this fiscal.

Procurement of services through Government e-Marketplace (GeM) has grown from nearly ₹8,500 crore in FY21 to nearly ₹66,000 crore in FY23 to nearly ₹1,82,000 crore in FY24 (as on February 22, 2024) – a significant increase of nearly 176% from last fiscal year.

Hence, intensive training on "Navigating Procurement via Government e Marketplace (GeM), Strategic Contracts in Procurement - Drafting, Negotiation, Enforcement & Dispute Resolution" should be a vital part of any business plan/ buying plan in 2024, as procurement impacts everything from customer satisfaction and product quality to cash flows and profitability. With supply chains becoming more complex and constrained, leveraging critical skills is essential for success in today's business landscape.

GeM, its process flow, challenges & complexities. It also allows for a comprehensive understanding of the platform and hands-on practice to ensure participants are conversant with GeM operations.

Risk Management

It goes without saying that risk management is an essential component of procurement training. In today's challenging business environment, procurement professionals must be equipped with the skills to identify, assess and mitigate the different types of risks that could impact their organizations. These include supply, price, financial, legal and safety risks.

We must take provisions to manage the following types of risks:-

- Supply Risk – the possibility of production line shutdown, failure to meet customer requirements, and/or other catastrophes due to the non-availability of certain goods or services at a particular time.
- Price Risk – the possibility that prices for goods or services could be adjusted to your organization's disadvantage.
- Financial Risk – your organization could possibly lose existing assets, future revenue, or potential income due to a financial or economic event or series of events. This risk category appears to be eminent.
- Legal Risk – the possibility that your organization could be a party to a lawsuit, particularly in which your organization has a lower-than-average probability of prevailing
- Safety Risk – the possibility that a person could be injured or killed or property damaged or destroyed.

Spend Management

Spend Management is a crucial skill for procurement professionals in today's business landscape. It involves the formulation and execution of an annual buying plan that includes forecasting demand for different categories of products and services, assessing the market for each commodity, determining the method for procuring each commodity and identify the resources needed for successful procurement.

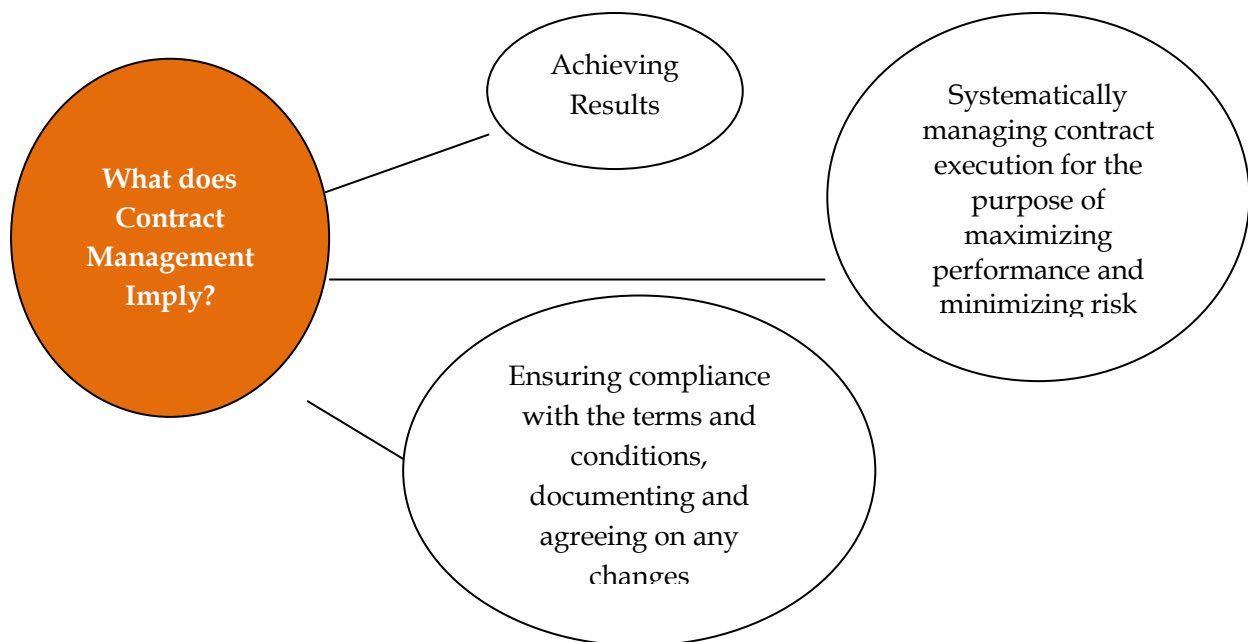

Decisions around Supplier Selection

Decisions around supplier selection are a critical aspect of procurement, with a significant impact on an organization's bottom line. Procurement professionals must possess the skills to assess the suitability of potential suppliers, evaluate their capabilities and reliability and negotiate contracts that align with organizational goals. Not having a robust strategy for supplier selection can result in suboptimal business outcomes, including delivery delays, increased costs, and quality issues.

Thus, procurement training is vital. It equips professionals with skills to understand and anticipate customer needs. This enables them to source and acquire goods and services that meet requirements.

What does Contract Management Imply?

Every contract seems to provide adequate protection when it is negotiated and signed. However, during contract performance, disputes often arise between buying organizations and their suppliers. Not having a good contract management process in place has consequences to both the buying organization and the consuming departments. If no one is managing the performance of the contract, an organization is likely to fail to meet its goals that it had for the project associated with the contract. Such failures may include delayed timelines, cost overruns, and more.

Commercial contracts form the backbone of business transactions and partnerships, playing a pivotal role in defining the terms, obligations, and rights of parties involved. Drafting, negotiating, and enforcing these contracts are crucial aspects of any successful business venture. In the ever-evolving global business landscape, keeping abreast of recent trends and best practices in the field of commercial contracts is essential for businesses and legal professionals.

The said program also offers a unique opportunity to enhance contract management skills, stay current with the latest trends, and network with industry professionals

The understanding of the legal framework that controls the acquisition of goods and services by organizations, particularly those in the public sector, is referred to as contractual & legal expertise.
